

Dawn of Hope

Excuse me, young lady. We have the ambulance on their way, and they want to know what happened to Drew Winston. He said he was going to do me good, Dawn replied purposefully to the administrative assistant in the high-school office. I wanted to make sure that everyone in this school knew that would never ever happen. I pushed him away and tripped him, and as he fell, he hit his head on the corner of a water fountain, which was not my intent. Hes bleeding from his head and is in convulsions. Within twenty-four hours of beginning her senior year at Fair Shore High School as a new student, Dawn Mortenson had chosen to fight the towns acceptance of the bullying and sexual abuse of young women by confronting Drew Winston, the schools All-American quarterback. Following that confrontation, she received multiple death threats, so her mother had to hire a security firm to protect herself and her daughter. That move did not work, as Dawn was kidnapped soon afterwards and ended up in the hospital. When Dawn had been released from the hospital, she had already gained a national reputation, which attracted more people who wanted her dead. She survived the bombing of a building she was visiting, which prompted FBI involvement. She stunned the agent who interviewed her, when in answer to his question about people who would like her killed, she was able to provide evidence of over fifty individuals who had specifically threatened her-including a police officer from her hometown, who had told her that he hoped the next attempt on her life would succeed. Dawn also clashed at times with those who even supported her efforts. A reporter in town had presented himself as someone who wanted to help. In describing why the culture of rape, bullying, and abuse has been tolerated in town, he ended with the statement, Everybody is seen as winning, male and female alike. It is a great American success story. Fair Shore residents have paid top dollar to join the winning team and are disinclined to raise any questions about the unsavory practices that support its continuation. There is a feeling that boys will be boys. In response, Dawn exploded, And you choose to support this? Goddamn you. Goddamn all of you. Lets only hope, Mr. Bruschi, that the success of this everybody-wins model spreads to towns all across America. Lets only hope that, within a few years, tens of thousands of young women can be treated the Fair Shore way and be raped without comment, so that boys can be boys. As she turned and headed toward the door, Joseph moved quickly to stop her. Dawn, dont leave. Go to hell. I thought there was hope with you because of some of the writing youve done. That series you did on the woman who overcame severe automobile injuries and resumed her career as an engineer after everybody said she would never work again was powerful. She is a remarkably brave young lady. And there are a lot of them out there, but your silence is ensuring that they will have to fight that much harder to create the stories they were born to tell. Dawns battle against the status quo lands a number of friends and enemies either in the hospital, in jail, or in an early grave. She uses rock-and-roll through befriending high-school band members who write their own lyrics that challenge the status quo, along with a combination of personal courage and mental toughness, to change the town forever, although at a huge personal cost.

Yorkshire unveils record low rate of 0.89% 7 hours ago LONDON FLATS 0 Yorkshire Building Society has launched a 2-year discount rate mortgage at 0.89% up to 65% loan-to-value. The product comes with a £1,495 fee, though the society also offers a £995 fee option at 1.05%. James Farrow, senior mortgage manager at Yorkshire Building Society, said: "We are very pleased to offer borrowers the lowest mortgage rate ever available. "The cost of funding has fallen in recent weeks and as a financially strong building society with no external shareholders to satisfy we have the ability to pass this on to borrowers." After the 2-year period the mortgage will revert to the lender's standard variable rate, which is currently 4.74%. Rachel Springall, finance expert at Moneyfacts, said: "It's fantastic to see such low rates on offer from Yorkshire Building Society and the choice between variable or fixed deal will appeal to different types of borrowers. "Those looking for more flexibility over the shorter term may prefer a discounted deal, but those looking for some security could choose the fixed rate. “In such a low interest rate environment it would be ideal for borrowers to consider overpaying their mortgage. As with any option borrowers would be wise to weigh up the entire package before entering any arrangement.” The post Yorkshire unveils record low rate of 0.89% appeared first on Mortgage Introducer.
